

Comments by Dr Winnie Tang on 2007 Digital Strategy

Paragraph 4.2

We think the Government has taken a right direction in building Cyberport and Hong Kong Science Park and develop them as platforms for growing clusters of high-tech companies and professional talent from all over the world. Cyberport is especially successful in the creation of a cluster of digital entertainment related companies.

Paragraphs 6.2-6.8

We appreciate the determination of the Government in reforming e-government services. It is a right step for the Government to take the lead in developing and managing e-government services. It is also a right direction for the new e-government portal, GovHK, to organize the e-government services in citizen centric mode and shows customer orientation.

Paragraph 7.2

We think the Government has done a good job in introducing appropriate competitions in telecommunication industry. The prices for mobile communications and broadband Internet access become very affordable. This leads to high penetration rate of mobile communications and broadband Internet access in Hong Kong. This also helps Hong Kong to achieve a high degree of digital inclusion.

Dr. Winnie Tang
Chief Executive Officer
ESRI China (Hong Kong) Ltd.

December 18, 2006